

A joint project by:

National Association of
Pediatric Nurse PractitionersSM

Acute
Care SIG
napnap.org/ac

National Association of
Pediatric Nurse PractitionersSM

Children in Disasters SIG
napnap.org/cid

Preparedness Resources for Families

The National Association of Pediatric Nurse Practitioners (NAPNAP) provides child-specific disaster preparedness information including how to talk to children about disasters.

The American Red Cross has general disaster preparedness information for parents/caregivers to educate children. Learn specific information on different types of disasters.

The Department of Health and Human Services offers early childhood resources.

The American Academy of Pediatrics' healthychildren.org site includes preventative tips for families in English and Spanish.

Save the Children provides safety plans and check lists.

Several government agencies developed a website that compiles online and downloadable resources and

Check out these great activities, books and videos for kids to learn about disaster preparedness and coping.

- Red Cross—activities webpage with downloadable training app
- FEMA—resource webpage with general information and youth and family specific sections.
- CDC's Ready Wrigley books educate children about various disaster scenarios, available in multiple languages.
- Sesame Street webpage with tools and videos
- Downloadable activity book for older children and adolescents
- Downloadable activity book for toddlers and younger children
- Downloadable kids preparedness guide book